Get "Into the Wild" with Camp Korey! Explore the outdoors while building community and self-empowerment!

For Children: Make new friends while exploring the outdoors in the beautiful setting of Camp Korey through activities like a nature scavenger hunt, nature crafts, and adaptive outdoor cycling.

For Teens: Teens connect with other young people who share similar experiences, go on a group adaptive bicycle ride on trails and get creative with nature arts & crafts.

For parents and caregivers: Meet other parents of children with brain injuries, and staff from Seattle Children's, Camp Korey, HeadStrong, and the BIAWA. Outdoors for All will share information about their accessible outdoor programs and demonstrate adaptive bicycles for us.

Refreshments will be served.

Please RSVP by October 25 as space is limited.

Let us know if you need support for transportation – a van will be available for pick-up in the Seattle area!

Childcare available onsite for children under the age of 5.
